ODOM STARTS SECOND SPURT OF GLOBE HOP

BOMBSHELL GUNNED TO CUT 1933 SOLO RECORD IN HALF

Gander, Nfld., Aug. 7 (P)—William P. Odom headed across the Atlantic in his twin-engined Bombsell tonight on the second lap of his effort to cut in half the round-the-world flight record set in 1933 by the late Wiley Post.

Taking off from Gander at 7:11 p.m. C.D.T., after a five hour and 18-minute flight from Chicago and an hour's stop-over, Odom said his next stop would be Paris.

Flying alone in the converted bomber, Odom corrected a short circuit in his automatic pilot during the trip here from Chicago by flushing out a corroded junction box with a fire extinguisher.

BILL HAS PHONE

Chicago, Aug. 7 (P)—Any one in the United States can talk to Bill Odom on his globe-circling flight.

All you have to do is telephone long distance, ask for the overseas operator, and tell her you want the Reynolds Bombsell, which is Odom's plane.

Telephone calls to the plane are handled by the Bell System's ship-to-shore relay at New York.

Of course, it might be a good idea before placing the call to ask the operator how much it will cost.

En route from Chicago, the Bombsell flew 325 miles an hour at 19,000 feet.

The 27-year-old former British ferry command officer established a world's non-solo globe circling record of 78 hours and 55 minutes in the same plane last April with Milton Reynolds, Chicago pen manufacturer, as a passenger and T. Carroll Sallee as flight engineer. He hopes to complete his solo flight in 90 to 94 hours. Post's record is 186 hours.

Odom left Chicago at 12:53 p.m. C.D.T. His take-off had been postponed twice while mechanical difficulties were corrected. He was forced back last Monday by mechanical trouble after reaching Halifax, Nova Scotia.

His flight plan calls for stops at Paris, Cairo, Karachi, Calcutta, Shanghai, Tokyo, Anchorage, Alaska, or Adak in the Aleutians; Edmonton and Alberta, Can., and return to Chicago.

The Bombsell had 1,500 gallons of fuel at the departure from Chicago. Its maximum fuel load is 2,460 gallons.

World Bank Grants $195,000,000 Loan To Rebuild Holland

Washington, Aug. 7 (P)—The World Bank today granted a loan of $195,000,000 to the Netherlands government "exclusively for reconstruction of productive facilities in the Netherlands home land."

This marked the second credit extended by the bank since it began operations nearly 18 months ago.

"None of the proceeds of the loan will be applied to the Netherlands East Indies nor for military purposes," the bank announced.

The kingdom of the Netherlands must repay the credit in 25 years at an interest rate that totals 4½ percent.

Flying Discs Flash Again Next Monday

New York, Aug. 7 (P)—The Perseid meteors—an annual visit of "flying discs" from space again are flashing through the night sky, with the greatest shows visible early next Monday and Tuesday mornings.

The best time to look is after midnight in your own locality. Most of the meteors will appear in the northeast.

The meteors are a train of particles of stone and metal, ranging from buckshot to pea size, that race around an orbit which brings them once a year into the earth's path around the sun. They are travelling at upward of 20 miles per second, and the friction and heat when they speed through the earth's atmosphere makes them glow.

Juke Box Organizer Dies Suddenly; Foul Play Angle Checked

Detroit, Aug. 7 (P)—Only a few minutes before the funeral, the coroner's office today ordered an autopsy because of "suspicious circumstances" surrounding the death of Louis M. Fox, business agent for the AFL "juke box union."

Fox died Tuesday and a physician who signed the death certificate listed a heart attack as the cause. The doctor said Fox suffered the attack while attending horse races at suburban Northville.

Coroner's Clerk J. Albert King said police records showed that Fox was beaten severely June 7 by an assailant wielding a baseball bat.

An autopsy will be necessary to determine whether those injuries led to his death," King declared.

Fox was an agent for the service drivers and helpers division of the Teamsters Union, which was attempting to organize 300 men employed in greater Detroit's $420,000-a-week juke box business. The drive was investigated recently by the Detroit labor racketeers grand jury.

WORDY HUGHES BATTLE CLOSES

Senator Brewster Not Telling The Truth, Says Plane Maker

By DOUGLAS B. CORNELL

Washington, Aug. 7 (P)—The Hughes-Brewster battle came to a stormy, inconclusive close tonight after Howard Hughes flung out fresh accusations of "lies" and "ulterior motives" in a Senate investigation of his war contracts.

Briggs Manufacturing Co., sent 5,600 employees home today after about 1,000 failed to report for work. This in turn forced Packard Motor Car Co. to close its final assembly lines until next Tuesday and idle 1,500 of its workers. Briggs' management spokesmen attributed its absenteeism to the heat.

Barring a further change in plans due to the materials situation Ford will recall at least 51,000 of its workers next Tuesday. They will have lost three working days and about 9,000 passenger cars will have been lost to the industry's production total.

Detroit To Miami Airliners Arrive In Time For Lunch

Detroit, Aug. 7 (P)—A breakfast-in-Detroit, lunch-in-Miami itinerary today heralded the inauguration of Eastern Airlines' regular service between those two points Friday.

"I don't have the strength to go on," said Hughes, complaining he got only two hours' sleep last night. "I feel that Senator Brewster is not telling the truth. I think that if I had the opportunity to cross examine him, I could prove it."

Senator Pepper (D-Fla.) finally turned to Hughes and asked:

"Senator Brewster says he is willing to let this issue stand on the record as it now is. Is that agreeable to you?"

Hughes said it was, and Senator Ferguson (R-Mich.), chairman of the subcommittee, announced:

"The chair will now rule that this matter is now closed."

He added that the committee will turn tomorrow morning to the investigation of Hughes' $18,000,000 cargo plane contract, and then go into the $22,000,000 photo reconnaissance plane contract.

CAR PRODUCTION GETS SET-BACK

More Than 80,000 Idle In Labor Disputes And Layoffs

BY DAVID J. WILKIE
Associated Press Automotive Editor

Detroit, Aug. 7 (P)—More than 80,000 of the nation's automotive workers were idle today as the result of a combination of labor disputes, materials shortages and absenteeism, the latter ascribed somewhat broadly to excessive heat.

Production figures compiled by the trade paper Automotive News were 79,647 units this week compared with last week's 95,711.

Lay-offs for 55,500 Ford, Mercury and Lincoln plant workers and 10,000 Studebaker 24-hour-rated employees have been attributed by management spokesmen to a strike of 7,000 Murray Corporation of America production men.

At the Murray plants, closed for two weeks, the CIO United Auto Workers Union is demanding immunity from a provision of the Taft-Hartley labor law which gives employers the right to sue unions whose members engage in unauthorized strikes.

Military Forces Cut; Government Taxes Foreign Films

BY ED CREAGH

London, Aug. 7 (P)—Winston Churchill gave notice tonight that his conservatives will try to throw out the Labor government's request for what he called "unlimited and undefined powers" to deal with Britain's economic difficulties.

The Churchill motion to reject the government-proposed legislation was brought forward at the height of a crucial House of Commons debate on Prime Minister Attlee's rigorous strength-through-sacrifice program.

Churchill's counter-move along with three significant developments in the government's struggle against an intensifying crisis.

Chancellor of the exchequer Hugh Dalton announced in the House of Commons a further cut in the armed forces. Service personnel will be reduced to 870,000 by the end of 1948, he said. This compared with the goal announced only yesterday by Attlee of a reduction to 1,007,000 by the end of next March. The armed forces now number about 1,300,000.

The British treasury announced that 75 per cent of the earnings of foreign films—most of them produced in Hollywood—would be taken by the government in the form of taxes.

It limits four star generals (admiral and general) to five for the Army, four for the Navy, four for the Air Force and one for the Marine Corps.

While the Navy has had a selective system of promotion, the new law introduces this arrangement into the grade of admiral. Hereafter to stay in that rank, an officer must justify his retention after each four years of service.

The new law abolishes the rank of five star "General of the Army" and "Admiral of the Fleet" during peacetime except for the eight highest now holding that rank.

City To Check Need For New Fire Truck

After hearing a plea from representatives of the Trades and Labor Council for the purchase of a new fire truck and other modern equipment to provide better service from the No. 2 or Northtown fire station, the city council, at its regular meeting last night, authorized City Manager A. V. Aronson to make a full investigation of the need for such equipment and report at the council's next session Aug. 21.

The consensus of a report by Tom Goedert, chairman of the labor council, which represents 2 unions in Escanaba, was that the present fire truck, a 125 unit, the pumping system, ladders and other pertinent equipment were antiquated.

Chairman Goedert emphasized that his group had no fault to find with the city firemen but only with the equipment used at the Northside fire station.

City To Act On Noisy Rides On Ludington Street

Action on the proposed abolishment of loud speaker advertising and other noise nuisance on city public streets was tabled by the Escanaba council last night until the next session of the council Aug. 21.

It is proposed that an ordinance making such a nuisance unlawful be drawn. Many complaints regarding mobile loud speaker use and post-wedding cruises up and down Ludington street have been received, it was pointed out.

Visit Of Brussels Woman Climaxes 28-Year Separation

Two sisters, one of Brussels, Belgium, and the other of Escanaba, are happily reunited after a 28 year separation.

Mrs. Joseph Corcoran of 308 South 12th street, has been in written contact with her sister, Mrs. Jules Gigo, through the years, but since Mrs. Corcoran came to America as a war bride of the first World War the two have not seen each other.

Mrs. Gigo will spend three months visiting Mrs. Corcoran here and her mother, Mrs. Ernest Jardin of Gladstone. Also in her itinerary is a visit with Mrs. C. Tibergen in Gladstone and Miss Wilmotte, housekeeper for Father Coignard in Perkins.

Upon her arrival in New York Mrs. Gigo was met by Mrs. Corcoran. After seeing a few shows and touring the empire city, the two sisters came to Escanaba.

Yesterday afternoon both were visited by Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Boileau of Flint and their two nieces, who arrived recently from Brittany in France.

Fifteen Bicycling Hostelers To Visit Escanaba Tomorrow

Fifteen bicycling hostelers from Detroit are scheduled to arrive in Escanaba at 5 tomorrow and will spend the night at the State Fairgrounds.

The group is on a tour of the Upper Peninsula and will be met here by an Escanaba group. Arrangements for their overnight stay here were made by Wallace Waits, Northern Michigan representative of the Michigan Child Institute.

CITY APPROVES AIR STRIP WORK

Nationwide Airlines Plane Slated To Arrive Today

"had to work with," he declared, "but they've had nothing to work with, no pumping system and the equipment is too old."

Edwin Kositke, a member of the group, cited figures comparing the truck and other equipment with that used by the Gladstone fire department, which was called upon to assist in the recent St. Ann's church fire here.

He said the chain-driven 1925 fire truck being used at the No. 2 fire station was "unsafe" and "slow." He pointed out that it had no pump and the ladders were worn out. This is a 150-gallon pump, but "this is a 100-foot extension without a pump," he asserted.

In contrast, the Gladstone department has a 1946 truck with aluminum ladders and 1,100 feet of hose.

The city manager explained in some detail that considerable equipment had been ordered and that the city was awaiting delivery. He also pointed out that the city fire department's rating was the "highest possible."

Shipments Delayed

Jerry Jerow, city fire chief, said the truck had been out of commission for a month, but that a pump had been ordered. Shipments on the pump was delayed, however, he added, along with shipment here of new ladders, ordered last November.

The status of the Northtown fire station was discounted at some length. Peter N. Logan, mayor pro tem acting in the absence of Mayor Marvin L. Coon, who is out of the city on business, thanked the council representatives for bringing the matter to the attention of council.

"I believe in adequate fire protection, and I am glad you men reported this situation to us," he said. "We will make a full investigation."

On the motion of Councilman Sam H. Wickman, the city manager was authorized to investigate and report back at the next session.

Under the proposed plan, linking Escanaba with other U. P. cities and Detroit on the new route, planes will leave here daily at 6 p.m., arriving in Detroit at 10 p.m., and will leave Detroit at 10 a.m. daily, arriving here at noon.

The cost of the extension here will be about $6,000, City Manager A. V. Aronson pointed out.

Pioneer Aviation will contribute $500 toward this expense, it was said, and the city manager has contacted Floyd E. Evans, head of the state aeronautics department, to investigate the possibility of procuring state aid for the east-west landing strip extension.

It appears probable that state aid will be procured, Dudley Jewell, secretary of the Escanaba Chamber of Commerce, told the council.

Upon motion of Councilman Harold W. Gasman, the council authorized the extension, efforts to get help from the state and accepted the $500 contribution of Pioneer Aviation toward the project.

A preliminary organization meeting of a safety and traffic committee to cooperate with Escanaba police in an effort to curb automobile accidents and provide maximum safety on the city's streets will be held in the council chambers this evening. It was announced yesterday.

Council Okehs Lease Of Old WAA Building

J. E. Pryal, of Escanaba, was granted permission by the city council last night to lease the old brick building on the U. S. ore dock property acquired by the city from the War Assets Administration for the purpose of constructing pre-cast concrete slabs.

The city manager was authorized to enter into an agreement with Pryal, leasing the building for a period of one year, effective today, with rent at the rate of $20 a month to begin April 1, 1948.

At the end of the year, the lease and rent will continue on a monthly basis, with the provision that Pryal receive a minimum of 60 days notice to vacate should the city desire the building for any other use. Pryal, at the outset, he said, will employ five men there.

Permits Granted

Three building permits were granted and one denied.

Those granted were: Albert Sovoy, 502 South 18th street, to build a pre-fabricated garage in the rear of an empty lot at 18th street and 4th avenue south for use as a temporary dwelling until he can erect a permanent house. The permit was granted until Jan. 1, 1949.

Herman Plouff, to erect a garage on North 20th street near 7th avenue for use as a temporary residence until he can build a permanent house. A three-year permit was granted.

Rush Escanaba Airport Runway Work; Two Lines Planning Service Stops

Recent developments indicating that Escanaba may become an important hub for commercial air travel have spurred action on airport improvement projects here, with one project now underway and the second expected to be advertised for bids within a few weeks.

Two commercial airlines have announced their intention to make service stops here when runways have been lengthened and improved to meet their requirements.

Nationwide Airlines will serve Escanaba daily on its Upper Peninsula-Detroit route. This announcement was made last week and the city airport and the Escanaba Chamber of Commerce reported yesterday that many telephone calls have been received from persons asking for reservations.

The pathfinder run of the Nationwide Airlines into Escanaba will be made today in a Lockheed Electra 10-passenger plane, the Escanaba Chamber of Commerce announced yesterday.

Inspection Only

Bob Clifford, chief operations officer, and Irving Stahl, regional manager of Nationwide Airlines, will be aboard the plane on its flight to Escanaba from Detroit. The plane will not carry passengers on this trip, the purpose of which is to inspect the Escanaba airport and runways to determine whether facilities are adequate for a commercial air stop.

Since the airline plans to use Lockheed Electras into Escanaba temporarily, providing feeder service to the airlines' DC-3 service from Houghton, Menominee and Detroit, it is regarded as virtually a certainty that the Escanaba airport and runways will be found to be more than adequate for the scheduled service.

The other airline to announce that it would make Escanaba a scheduled stop was Wisconsin Central Airlines, which has received CAA franchise and will begin service by next spring. Under its franchise the airport must first be approved by CAA.

Over $60,000 Project

In an effort to prepare the east-west airport runway for Nationwide Airlines planes as soon as possible the city has a bulldozer at work lengthening the runway from 2,400 to 3,000 feet. The extension is being made at the east end of the runway at a cost of about $7,000. Work was started Wednesday.

When the east-west runway extension is completed the feeder service will be discontinued and Escanaba will be placed on the schedule for Nationwide's DC-3 airliners.

The second airport improvement project is to lengthen the north-south runway from 2,640 to 3,800 feet. The city is sponsor and state and federal funds will also be available to make the total expenditure about $60,000 or $70,000. Plans for the project are being prepared by the state department of aeronautics and it is expected that bids will be asked within a few weeks. It is possible that work will be started this year although it is doubtful the improvement can be completed before 1948.

Wally Arntzen chairman of the Escanaba Chamber of Commerce airport committee, yesterday said that he has been advised by the state aeronautics board that every effort would be made to speed the project.

$35,000 Federal Aid

In Washington the Civil Aeronautics Administration announced that Escanaba will receive $35,000 for airport improvements. This figure was revised upward from a previously announced $30,000 total for Escanaba.

The north-south runway will be graded and, if the funds are sufficient, be improved by building landing strips at each end. Whether the strips will be built will depend upon cost of the grading work.

Escanaba is considered by Arntzen to be advantageously located from a geographical standpoint for future development as an important hub in Upper Peninsula air traffic. Nationwide Airlines will make Escanaba its first stop on arriving in the U.P. from Detroit, and its last stop on the return trip.

Additional federal funds for Escanaba airport improvements may be forthcoming in 1948 under the five-year CAA airport development plan because commercial air service will have been established here.

Other work now underway at the airport includes the concrete flooring of four T-hangars. The work is being done by Pionair Aviation which leases the airport from the city on an annual basis.

tremendous need for expansion of telephone service to meet 1947 demands seems apparent. Whether the substantial boosts being sought by the Bell company in its present application are justified is another matter, and one for the Public Service Commission to decide after a complete analysis of the situation.

The proposed extended area service, under which telephone subscribers in Bark River, Escanaba, Gladstone and Rapid River could call each other without payment of additional tolls, will be attractive to telephone patrons in those communities, but they will, of course, be paying for this increased service through the rate boosts, if the schedule asked by the telephone company is approved by the public service commission.

Safe School Buses

THE state department of public instruction has launched a program to make the 2,000 buses used in the transportation of school children as safe as possible during the coming year.

All school districts have been bulletined to have bus safety equipment carefully checked and put into good condition. This will be followed up with periodic checks by the Michigan state police. Any buses found unsafe will be ordered out of service until repaired satisfactorily.

World Events Analyzed

BY MARQUIS CHILDS

Washington—They had an air force day in the Soviet Union recently which, by a coincidence, fell close to the day on which we in this country paraded our air power. Pravda boastfully proclaimed that Russia had pioneered the theory of jet propulsion and hinted that the Soviet Union was far in the lead in the new super-speed aircraft.

This last may be no idle boast. It is a suspicion which top U.S. air force officers have long held.

On Moscow's air force day, the public was told for the first time about new types of jet planes developed, so it was claimed in Pravda, by Russian designers. The belief in informed quarters here is that the real credit must go to German designers and technicians who were taken as part of the spoils of war.

HAVE JET BOMBER?

While the formal unveiling of the new Russian planners have known for some time about certain of the more spectacular Soviet achievements. Most startling and most hush-hush of all is a jet bomber with a range of 800 miles. This is believed to exceed anything yet developed in this country. It may even be an advance over U.S. jet types that are still in the experimental construction stage.

For the coming fiscal year, congress appropriated funds for 1700 planes for both the navy and the army air forces. This was a considerable advance over the amount requested by the bureau of the budget. For aviation research, congress granted $145,000,000 for the AAF and $75,000,000 for the navy, which were the amounts requested in the budget.

This must be compared, however, with the minimum set in 1945 by the air co-ordinating committee. The committee, made up of representatives of all government departments with an interest in aviation, found that to maintain an aircraft industry sufficient for national security a minimum of 3000 planes a year should be manufactured.

Moreover, this was the minimum after peace should be secured throughout the world and some degree of disarmament achieved. Anyone who thinks we have arrived at that state today had better see a good psychiatrist.

The gap between 1700 planes and 3000 is a big one. The figure of 3000 presupposes research and development on new types which would make it possible to go to quick production of those types in the event of a war. Plainly, then, the administration would have to ask, and congress would have to grant, nearly twice the amount made available for the current year.

LKE PEARL HARBOR?

This was precisely the desperate lack we faced after Pearl Harbor. Experimental construction and research lagged in the late '30's. If one can look through the irrelevancies and absurdities of the current senate investigation, that is the tremendously important fact which comes out—in spite, one might almost say, of those who are conducting the investigation.

In American aircraft plants, experimental models of jet bombers are being built and they are undergoing tests. A number of types are being pioneered, which is costly, but from the point of view of eventual mass production it is highly desirable.

Bombers powered with four jets are being produced by the North American and Consolidated companies. Martin and Boeing are working on six-jet bombers. Northrop is engaged in powering the famous flying wing with jets.

The secret of taxes is not the property assessment nor the tax rate, but rather the amount of money necessary to raise from taxes. It matters little whether the money is raised with 10 mills per $1,000 on a small assessment or whether it is raised with five mills per $1,000 on a large assessment.

If anything they will make the financial structure more sound and on a wider base. They need not mean higher taxes because local authorities determine the tax rate and the state receives but a negligible share of the property tax.

They will help some cities by giving them greater borrowing power and by providing a greater safety margin. Sault Ste. Marie, for instance, has excellent credit but is operating close to its margin of safety because of charter limitations. A broader assessment base will make the Sault's credit all the stronger during coming years when bonds will be sold for various public purposes.

Chief interest at Sault Ste. Marie and the county subdivisions is in keeping the Sault-rural property assessment in fair relationship so that all pay their equitable share of county government.

They have been few examples of perverted democracy in this country as brazen as this one.

Pervered Democracy

AMERICANS who take pride in our system of democratic government with its respect and tolerance for individual rights and opinions have reason to be shocked at the way in which democracy is practiced in some of our southern states.

Mississippi, for instance, recently enacted a new primary election law, designed to maintain white supremacy in Mississippi elections. The law specifies that prospective voters must first swear accord with principles set forth by the Democratic executive committee of Mississippi, such principles including opposition to federal anti-poll and anti-lynching legislation. In other words, if you do not subscribe to the principles enunciated by the Democratic executive committee in Mississippi, you just can't vote in the primary elections.

Primary elections are, of course, the only important elections in Mississippi, as in many of the southern states, because Democratic nomination to political office in that state is tantamount to election. Democrats preponderantly outnumber Republicans in most of the southern states.

The attorney general's office in Washington is studying Mississippi's new election law to determine whether it violates any provisions of federal election statutes.

Obviously any state election law that perverts the principles of democracy as the Mississippi primary election statute does constitutes a challenge to the personal liberty guarantees of our American constitution.

The Mississippi statute does not establish machinery to determine the majority will of its peoples, a basic essential of democratic government. Rather it enunciates principles, as expressed by a handful of politicians, and establishes acceptance of those principles as a prerequisite for the voting franchise.

There have been few examples of perverted democracy in this country as brazen as this one.

Bell Asks Rate Boost

MICHIGAN Bell Telephone company has announced its schedule of rate increases for which application is being made to the Michigan Public Service commission and, on the whole, the rate increases being sought by the telephone company are substantial. The proposed increases vary from about 14 per cent for four-party flat rate residential service to about 60 per cent for one-party flat rate business service. In addition, increases in toll charges also are being sought.

The rate boost request of the telephone company comes at a time when decision is being awaited in court on an appeal from a rate reduction ordered by the Public Service commission in 1946.

The company's financial situation has changed materially since 1946, when the previous rate reduction order was given by the public service commission. Material costs and higher labor rates, resulting from the labor strike in May of this year, obviously have adversely affected the Michigan Bell's financial condition.

That some rate increases are in order in view of higher operating costs and the proposed extended area service, under which telephone subscribers in Bark River, Escanaba, Gladstone and Rapid River could call each other without payment of additional tolls, will be attractive to telephone patrons in those communities, but they will, of course, be paying for this increased service through the rate boosts, if the schedule asked by the telephone company is approved by the public service commission.

Blood Donors Needed

THE initial response for volunteers for blood donations in Delta county has been discouraging, although the need for enlarging the supply of plasmas and blood derivatives is great.

The blood donor collection will be made in Escanaba next week, Aug. 11-15. Blood received at the donor collection here will be processed into plasma by the Michigan department of health and returned to Delta county for distribution as required.

The Red Cross emphasizes in its blood collection program that "He who gives is he who lives." The terse slogan means simply that some of the very persons who donate blood now may have their own lives saved when an emergency develops and plasma is required.

Thousands of American soldiers whose lives were saved by plasma transfusions on the battlefields know the value of the blood collection program. Those veterans will surely be among the volunteers who report for blood collections in Escanaba next week, as will be many other former servicemen and women who are aware of the life saving qualities of plasma, and other blood derivatives.

The local response at the last blood donor collection in Escanaba was generous, but the war was still in progress at that time and the public was more conscious of life saving programs. Those who donated at that time, as well as others who have given blood in collection stations elsewhere, know that the process is without pain and without danger. Only a brief period of time is required. A little thoughtfulness now will be gratefully appreciated later when the blood you give may save the life of a fellowman.

Perhaps it may even be your own life. Who knows?

ONE PAPER TOWN

(Editor and Publisher)

Fortune magazine in its current issue takes an interest in a "One Newspaper Town," Paducah, Ky. The feature article by that name is an analysis of the Sun-Democrat and its policies, staff and 11,000 circulation, together with a fairly complete appraisal of what the 40,000 people in the town read. Fortune's subtitle states: "The Paducah Sun-Democrat has a monopoly on Paducah's front porches but not on the minds of its readers."

This article should go far towards countering the charges so often repeated that one newspaper towns are unhealthy because in them one man can influence and control the thought of the people. Such news is always tragic, and is particularly regrettable if the mishaps could have been avoided by careful cleanup of safety equipment and careful driving.

Fortune also backs up previous statements of ours that one newspaper towns exist purely because of economic reasons.

Unless and until printing methods are developed whereby initial investment in machinery and cost of operation for a daily newspaper are reduced 50 per cent or more below what they are today there will be little transformation of one newspaper towns into two newspaper towns.

HIGHER ASSESSMENTS

(Sault Ste. Marie News)

Higher property assessments for Chippewa county need not necessarily be alarming.

If anything they will make the financial structure more sound and on a wider base. They need not mean higher taxes because local authorities determine the tax rate and the state receives but a negligible share of the property tax.

The secret of taxes is not the property assessment nor the tax rate, but rather the amount of money necessary to raise from taxes. PLANES HELP SAVE FORESTS

Smoke Jumpers Are Now
Aided By "Water Bombing"

BY ED JOHNSON
AP Newsfeatures

Missoula, Mont. — Back in 1910 western Montana and northern Idaho were swept by a forest fire 150 miles long and 25 miles wide. Hundreds of homes were destroyed. Small towns disappeared in the conflagration. Eighty-seven fire fighters were killed and billions of board feet of valuable timber were turned into charred stumps.

Since then the U. S. Forest Service has waged a long but winning battle against fires in mountain wilderness. Access roads and new methods of fighting the destructive blazes with trained men and modern equipment are some of the developments.

One of the most successful methods of controlling forest fires, which burned more than one million acres of timber in America between 1940 and 1945, has been to parachute men into remote areas, where it would take days for ground crews to reach the scene.

Water Bombing
And now to help the daring Smoke Jumpers and to aid in controlling the hundreds of small lightning-caused fires which break out every summer, the forest service is cooperating with the Army and federal Bureau of

Can You Spare A Pint?

Standards in a new development—"water bombing" with Army airplanes.

Two P-47 fighter planes, B-29 Superfortress and 30 men from the Army's proof test division at Eglin Field, Fla., are based at the Great Falls, Mont., Army airbase for the summer-long experiment, under the command of Lt. Charles G. Mathison, Annapolis, Md., B-29 pilot.

They plan to drop hundreds of bombs filled with water and fire extinguishing chemicals on timber blazes to see just how effective the new fire fighting method will be.

Methed Demonstrated

In a great public demonstration in western Montana's Lolo National Forest, Lts. Francis L. Stewart, Gladston, Ill., and Alexander S. Lampart, Simpson, Pa., P-47 pilots roared down Lolo canyon in a daring maneuver and dropped four 165-gallon auxiliary gasoline tanks of water squarely in front of a small, raging fire. Dirt, mud and water splashed over an area 75 feet across. When parachuting fire fighters landed only a few sparks remained.

The B-29's accuracy was not as good that day because of rough air, caused by ragged mountains, but the big aircraft can "hit 'em squarely on the nose" in smooth air, and it has the advantage of carrying eight of the large bombs and more than 80 smaller missiles for "pattern bombing."

It's all in the experimental stage, but those working on the project seem confident that by summer's end most of the wrinkles will be ironed out, and that wartime's devastating method of firing enemy cities will be reversed for the benefit of lumber-short America.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking the excess acids and waste out of the blood. This help most people pass about 3 bladders a day.

ASKS PUBLIC TO 'RUN' RAILROAD

Robert R. Young Urges Patrons To Air Their Grips

New York, (NEA)—In their search for ways to make train travel popular, railroad executives also are learning how patronage can be driven away without the slightest effort. Of them all, here is the most effective method: Just keep ticket-buyers standing in long queues at station windows, while your clerks visit, read and saunter around inside with what—rightly or not—looks to your public like aimless disinterest.

One out of every five persons who get angry enough to write their peevish to the Federation for Railway Progress complain about the ticket-window slowdown. That is substantially more than mention any other one grievance.

The FRP's Robert Young's new organization of railroad security-holders, train-riders and whoever else is interested enough to sign up and lay $2 a year on the line (or more in the case of organizations, corporations and security holders).

Its announced purpose is to improve the standards of railroad service to the public. One method is to invite criticism—bad or good. If a railroad sends your blood pressure to dangerous highs, you can tell the federation even that case, your complaint will be passed on to the president of the road that offended you. But if you belong to the federation, it will follow through, and if your complaint is justified will try to see that something is done.

The federation was not announced until late Spring. Already it has 14,500 dues-paying individual members, in addition to companies and organizations.

The invitation to complain was issued in newspaper advertisements the last of May. In the first two months 350 persons wrote in about the treatment they were getting from the railroads they held in Houghton.

The main speakers on the banquet program are E. A. Tinker, executive secretary of the American Paper and Pulp Association of New York; Alex Korleff, woodlands manager of the Canadian

And—this will surprise some but will delight railroad executives who have taken quite a beating during and since the war—

Only half of the reports were complaints.

Two out of every five were compliments.

One out of ten contained suggestions.

The old-line railroad management aren't enthusiastic about the federation, which they regard as another of the annoying pins that Young uses to puncture their complacency. Three out of five presidents won't recognize the federation by acknowledging complaints—or even complaints—passed on to them.

But if you are a frequent railroad rider you will react to some of the grievances that are aired in "Courtesy Reports" to the FRP.

Many railroad washrooms are "1890, down long flights of stairs, unclean, etc." Women, particularly, insist on smoking in non-smoking cars when the trainmen's backs are turned. "Drunken waiter, inefficient and surly steward" in dining car. Air conditioning off and steam heat on when it's 80 degrees outside. Rough stops at night that make sleep impossible. Took 35 minutes to buy a ticket—"clerks were not interested. Busy looking at letters, etc." All but two ticket windows closed in mid-afternoon, lines 25 persons long so the writer missed his train. Dining service "outrageously slow and poor under a waiter who cared little and a steward who cared less."

But also there are bright spots in the files.

Keweenaw, Wis., woman went to the trouble of naming Northwestern employees who had been particularly helpful in times of need. A musician finds the Pennsylvania's food and service vastly improved on crack Washington-New York trains. A Cincinnati man likes the C. & O.'s no-tipping rule. A Schenectady, N. Y., man

DANCING ACT IS FAIR FEATURE

"Parade Of Stars" Will Be Presented First Four Days

Sixteen chorines, picked for their striking beauty and their brilliant dancing ability, dance as one in the eye-arresting precision numbers in the "Parade of Stars" to be presented at the Upper Peninsula State Fair Aug. 19-23. The dancing act will be presented the first four nights of the fair.

Individually, each of the sixteen lovelies in her own right is a dancing star. Many of them have been featured in leading Broadway night clubs or in leading New York musical productions. The close of the indoor entertainment season freed them for casting in the coming lavish outdoor musical extravaganza.

Together, as the 16 Ainsworth Dancers, they offer a superb rendition of the most difficult of all chorus routines, precision dancing. Flawless timing and perfect coordination is demanded for the successful execution of precision steps.

By dint of repeated rehearsals under a skilled chorus-master they have been blended into a unit which now is regarded as the best ever to be presented outdoors. Their sparkling routines are unfolded with verve and the finesse that stamps the front-liners of the dancing profession.

The sixteen dancers do more than offer precision routines. During the production they render several other dazzling numbers. In each of their ever-changing appearances they are arrayed in arresting gowns or costumes, designed to catch and hold the most jaded eye.

Special arrangements lighting and newly-developed lighting effects serve to emphasize the beauty of their dancing, which constitutes one of the high spots of the delightfully breath-taking musical extravaganza.

Riverside Club Sold By Mancis

Iron Mountain, Mich.—Purchase of the Riverside Club, in Florence county, by the Aurora Bowling Corporation, of Aurora, Wis., was announced here this morning by James and Rudy Mancis, partners in the Riverside since 1934, when the first club was built on the Wisconsin side of the Menominee river, near Niagara. The consideration involved was not disclosed. The Aurora corporation is organized under Wisconsin state laws.

William Brouillet, of Aurora, lifelong resident of the district and president of the Aurora Bowling Corporation, and Vernel Marek, secretary-treasurer, concurred in the announcement this morning. Purchase of the Riverside, they said, supersedes plans of the Corporation for new bowling alleys and a restaurant at Aurora. Specifications for this structure had been drawn, and some features, including the bowling alleys, will be introduced at the Riverside when materials are available.

FORESTERS TO HOLD MEETING

Tinker Will Be Speaker At Banquet Tonight At Houghton

More than four hundred members of the Wisconsin-Upper Michigan section of the American Society of Foresters will be present at a banquet tonight at 6:45 at Douglas Houghton Hall on the Michigan College of Mining and Technology campus. The banquet is a featured part of the section's summer meeting currently being held in Houghton.

The main speakers on the banquet program are E. A. Tinker, executive secretary of the American Paper and Pulp Association of New York; Alex Korleff, woodlands manager of the Canadian

And—this will surprise some but will delight railroad executives who have taken quite a beating during and since the war—

Only half of the reports were complaints.

Two out of every five were compliments.

One out of ten contained suggestions.

The old-line railroad management aren't enthusiastic about the federation, which they regard as another of the annoying pins that Young uses to puncture their complacency. Three out of five presidents won't recognize the federation by acknowledging complaints—or even complaints—passed on to them.

But if you are a frequent railroad rider you will react to some of the grievances that are aired in "Courtesy Reports" to the FRP.

Many railroad washrooms are "1890, down long flights of stairs, unclean, etc." Women, particularly, insist on smoking in non-smoking cars when the trainmen's backs are turned. "Drunken waiter, inefficient and surly steward" in dining car. Air conditioning off and steam heat on when it's 80 degrees outside. Rough stops at night that make sleep impossible. Took 35 minutes to buy a ticket—"clerks were not interested. Busy looking at letters, etc." All but two ticket windows closed in mid-afternoon, lines 25 persons long so the writer missed his train. Dining service "outrageously slow and poor under a waiter who cared little and a steward who cared less."

But also there are bright spots in the files.

Keweenaw, Wis., woman went to the trouble of naming Northwestern employees who had been particularly helpful in times of need. A musician finds the Pennsylvania's food and service vastly improved on crack Washington-New York trains. A Cincinnati man likes the C. & O.'s no-tipping rule. A Schenectady, N. Y., man

Pulp and Paper Association of New York City.

Professor U. J. Noblet, chairman of the Wisconsin-Upper Michigan section and head of the department of Forestry at Michigan Tech, will act as general chairman of the banquet program. Professor Burley B. Bennett, director of Michigan Tech's Department of Public Relations will act as toastmaster, and Dr. Grover C. Dillman, president of the College will give the address of welcome.

The banquet will follow an all-day inspection trip to the Neekoosa-Edwards Paper company's logging operation in Keweenaw.

On Saturday morning the entire group will leave for a visit to the Marathon pulpwood operation south of Houghton and the Cliff-Dow Forest Service operation near Bergland.

Arrangements for the section's summer field meeting were under the supervision of Professor Noblet and Mr. Max Melick, secretary-treasurer of the section and representative of the U. S. Forest Service.

Ray Knudson and George Young of the Forest Service office in Escanaba will attend the conference.

Collegians Trimmed More Frequently

Rockford, Ill. (AP) — The crew cut, the hair styling that made many a manly head look more like a coconut, is losing favor among youths of college age in these parts.

Rockford barbers report demand for the close crop has slumped. One of them, Vito Martorana, attributes the trend to the general prosperity. The lads, he says, now can afford to have longer locks trimmed more often.

IRON BONANZA NEARS ITS END

Mining Companies Are Getting Ready For Leaner Ore

BY ALTON L. BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Reporter
New York—Iron mining companies are getting set for the day when America's great iron bonanza plays out.

The bonanza is the rich deposit of high-grade iron ore in the Lake Superior Area, including the famed Mesabi Range, where ore is simply scooped up from open pits.

For years this has yielded a cheap and easy flow of iron ore, supplying about 85 per cent of the nation's annual supply of 60 to 70 million tons.

But authorities estimate that reserves of the high-grade stuff will last only 20 or 30 years more. Open-pit mining of cheap, high-grade ore may last only five more years, says Prof. Philip B. Bucky, professor of mining at the Columbia University School of Mines, and chairman of the Mining Methods Committee, American Institute of Mining and Metallurgical Engineers.

Plenty of Low Grade

There still will be plenty of low-grade ore—some say an inexhaustible amount—which can be refined to remove impurities and continue the flow of ore to blast furnaces for industry. About 20 percent of the ore from the Lake Superior district already is being refined, and research on refining methods is being speeded.

One method used commercially is gravity separation. Ore and rock is crushed and then washed, shaken, and treated in other ways to separate the heavier ore from worthless materials. The heavy minerals go to the bottom, the lighter ones to the top.

In another method, non-magnetic iron ore can be heated or roasted to make it magnetic, and the iron then can be separated from clay, sand, and other materials through use of magnets.

Flotation Possibility

A third method is the flotation process—used widely in refining copper, zinc, lead, gold, and other materials—which still is too high priced for commercial use in iron ore. In this process, the ore is ground very fine, and then certain chemicals or oils are added. These oils will coat one of the minerals, so that air bubbles will stick to it. The air makes this mineral float to the surface where it can be scraped off as a froth.

At present, all such methods make refined ore cost more than that obtained from high-grade open pits. Improvements in the future might reduce the cost, however.

There are also rich deposits of high-grade ore buried too deep for open-pit mining. Considerable research is being carried on to

EARTH SHOCKS FELT SANTIAGO DE CUBA; RESIDENTS FRANTIC

Havana, Cuba, Aug. 7. (AP)—Soldiers patrolled the streets of Santiago, Cuba's second city, tonight after two more earth shocks were felt, sending thousands of frantic residents into the streets and parks to spend the night.

Seven shocks in all were recorded yesterday and today, and two deaths have been attributed to them.

Damages, chiefly to buildings, is estimated at hundreds of thousands of dollars in Santiago.

Diet To Banish Pain After Tooth Has Been Pulled

BY SCIENCE SERVICE

Boston—A high alkaline diet will prevent pain after a tooth has been pulled, Dr. Leonard S. Moray of Newark, N. J., advised at the American Dental Association meeting here.

For 24 hours before and 48 hours after tooth pulling, he tells his patients to eat a diet including plenty of citrus fruits and juices, leafy green vegetables and tomatoes and at least one quart of milk daily.

Such a diet gives the blood a heavy alkalinizing, he said, and this makes for ideal healing conditions in bony tissue.

Acid-producing foods should be avoided. These include meat, fish, fowl, fats, cheese, grain, sweets, cranberries, rhubarb, alcohol, coffee, tea and chocolate.

Excessive exercise should also be avoided, Dr. Moray advised, because it creates lactic acid and lessens the body's alkali reserve.

make underground mining for iron more efficient.

Production Problem

In open-pit mines, production runs up to 60 tons of ore per man per day, Prof. Bucky said. In underground mines, it now averages about 10 tons. One mining company has boosted production to 32 tons per man per day, and plans to use larger openings and larger machinery to reach the goal of 60 tons daily.

A principal problem in underground iron ore mines is to prevent cave-ins when huge tunnels are dug. Studies of stresses, and new methods of filling, blocking, caving, blasting, and drilling are making underground mines more productive.

Mining companies also are spending large sums, Prof. Bucky said, in quests to locate new high-grade deposits. Foreign deposits offer still a fourth source of iron to keep American blast furnaces going.

U.S. Ambassador Given British Bike

London (AP)—U. S. Ambassador Lewis Douglas, an ardent cyclist, may swing out of Grosvenor Square any morning astride a gleaming beauty presented to him by the Bicycle Manufacturers' Association of Britain.

Manufacturers cast lots to decide who should build the presentation model. The winning firm checked on the Ambassador's weight and sprung the saddle accordingly.

The prize model boasts a chromium sprocket wheel and chain covered to protect the most active trouser leg; miniature dynamo that powers headlight and tail-light; three gears operated from the handle bars; a free-wheeling break in the rear hub; no batteries to wear out.

Sentence Is Eased For Detroiter In Killing Of Soldier

San Francisco, Aug. 7 (AP)—An Army court martial today found Pvt. Lemias Woods, of Detroit, guilty of involuntary manslaughter for the fatal shooting of a fellow soldier in Manila March 23, 1946.

He was immediately sentenced to a dishonorable discharge and three years at hard labor.

It was Woods' second trial on murder charges preferred in the shooting of PFC Thomas Patterson of Suffolk, Va. He was convicted and sentenced to hang by a Manila court martial May 1, 1946, but the trial findings were disapproved by President Truman and a new trial was ordered by the Army judge advocate general.

The verdict of the court is subject to review by General Mark W. Clark, who may, under the articles of war, revise it downward but may not increase it.

Two auto accidents were investigated by Michigan State Police Wednesday evening and were laid in part to poor visibility caused by a driving rain storm.

One occurred at Rapid River when autos driven by Dale Tienert of Masonville and Herbert Lundin of Ensign collided. The accident report showed Tienert made a left hand turn in front of Lundin and Lundin was so close he could not avoid the Tienert auto.

Tienert was ticketed for not having a valid operator's license and Lundin was also given a summons for operating a car with defective brakes.

Cliff Mercier of Escanaba lost control of an auto he was driving and rolled over on US-2 near Moss Lake at Isabella. Neither Mercier nor the passengers in his auto were injured.

UNEMPLOYMENT ON INCREASE

Local Situation Grave Employment Service Office Reveals

A marked increase in the number of unemployed in the Manistique area is indicated in a report issued this week by James Damitz, of the Michigan State Employment Service with offices in Escanaba.

According to this report there are 239 unemployed persons registered at the Schoolcraft county department at the Escanaba office of which 184 are veterans, 25 are women and the remainder men. A majority are of semi and unskilled classifications.

This number, he states, is considerable of an increase over what it was a month ago. Numerous employers' contacts have been made by representatives of the Michigan State Employment Service, Damitz states, and these contacts have revealed that a majority of industries are operating at peak employment and do not anticipate additional hiring other than that necessary for replacement purposes. The office anticipates increased unemployment when temporary summer employment comes to an end.

Representatives of the employment service maintain office hours at the American Legion cottage every Thursday from 9 to 3 o'clock. Employers seeking workers or information relative to the unemployment compensation act are urged to make use of this service as well as those who are unemployed.

Chicago, Aug. 7 (AP)—Kirby Higbe held the Chicago Cubs to seven scattered hits today to give the Pittsburgh Pirates a 3-0 decision and a sweep of their two-game Chicago stand.

Hank Borowy allowed the Bucs only five hits, the first of which was Ralph Kiner's home run over the left field screen. It was Kiner's 27th circuit smash of the year.

Pittsburgh got to Borowy for a single by Higbe and a double by Cully Rikkard in the fifth, and then counted its final two runs on walks to Jim Russell and Frank Gustine and a long fly to left by Kiner.

The Bucks threatened frequently but lost their only chance to score when Bob Scheffing stumbled while rounding third in the second inning.

New York, Aug. 7 (AP)—The St. Louis Cardinals unleashed a 16-hit attack today to down the Cincinnati Reds 9-2 and draw within four games of the faltering Brooklyn Dodgers, who lost to Boston.

The victory was the surging Cards seventh in a row and, although right-hander Jim Hearn shutout the redlegs for eight innings, he weakened in the ninth and had to give way to reliever Ted Wilks.

The game was marred by injury to two first-line Cincinnati players, Shortstop Eddie Miller and Outfielder Frankie Baumholz, who collided as they chased a Texas leaguer from the bat of Del Rice in the sixth.

Three stitches were required to close a gash in Miller's chin and Baumholz, who was carried from the field in a stretcher, suffered a slight concussion. It was not known immediately how soon they would return to the lineup.

The Cardinals teed off on Lefty Kent Peterson in the first inning, scoring one run on a single and double.

Whitey Kurowski's single, a triple by Enos Slaughter and Jeff Cross' safe bunt combined for two more in the fourth and a pair of St. Louis runners crossed the plate as Miller and Baumholz collided in the sixth.

Red Schoendienst homered in the seventh and the Cards broke out with three more in the ninth before the Reds rallied in their half to deprive Hearn of a shutout.

Clark paced the hitters with a double and a single in addition to his circuit blast over the left field wall.

RED CROSS HAS 53 JULY CASES

New Method Of Record
Keeping Initiated
Nationally

A new system of statistical reporting has been inaugurated by the American Red Cross, it was announced yesterday by S. R. Wickman, Home Service Chairman for Delta County. The new method of tabulating services rendered, to begin with the fiscal year July, 1947-48 was inaugurated at the recent National Convention of R. C. (Also Initiated at the National meet was provision for free blood to every man, woman and child in the United States who needs it.)

On the old form, cases closed at the end of the month were often carried over as new cases in the succeeding period. The revised form will provide an exact account of all individuals receiving help through each of the chapters. Types of services rendered will also be tabulated. Persons seeking information are not counted as cases.

July report of Red Cross activities is as follows.

Information—21.

Cases Opened—53 (20 were carried over from June but only 10 received services.)

Furlough or leave verification—5.

Other services reported for the military administration included four veteran's administration cases, one emergency communication, five claims for compensation, pension, etc.; and 12 consultation cases. Seventeen bonus applications were filed for veterans by the Red Cross.

Four persons received financial assistance during the month of July to the amount of $69.07, $54.50 was received by the Red Cross in repayment.

Services as listed above for Delta County were rendered by the Executive Secretary of the County Chapter, a part-time worker and two volunteers.

E. F. McDonald Seeks Divorce For Desertion

Hiawatha Becomes
Well Known Here

Chicago, Ill.—Eugene F. McDonald Jr., 57, president of the Zenith Radio corporation, filed suit in Superior court Thursday asking a divorce from Inez Riddle McDonald, 38, on the ground of desertion.

He also seeks custody of their two children, Jean, 10, and Eugene F. III, 5, now living with him at his summer home on Mackinac Island.

It was reported the divorce would not be contested and that a property settlement had been agreed upon. They were married July 16, 1931, at Seminole, Okla., then Mrs. McDonald's home.

The suit charges she deserted him "without any reasonable cause" June 1, 1945. The children have been living with him, the suit states, since the desertion.

Petitioner Widely Known

McDonald is widely known as a yachtsman and explorer. From 1923 to 1937 he participated in several expeditions, including trips to the Arctic. Mrs. McDonald is a direct descendant of President Zachary Taylor. The couple met while she was studying music and art in Chicago.

This is the region whose history was recalled July 3 to 6 in Escanaba, Michigan, at the Hiawatha-land Festival sponsored by the Escanaba Chamber of Commerce. Here, in pageantry, song and speech was celebrated under the name of its most famous personage the history of the area the

Executives Reach Top 10-20 Years After Graduation

Kansas City, Mo., (SS)—More top technical executives in American industry reach high posts 10 to 20 years after graduation from college than in other periods, a recent survey revealed.

Morris T. Carpenter, executive director of the Whiting, Ind., laboratories of the Standard Oil Company of Indiana, made the survey of executives holding positions ranging from assistant director of research to vice president in charge of all technical activities and reported the findings to the local section of the American Chemical Society.

Mr. Carpenter found that 43 per cent of the executives attained top rank 10 to 20 years after college graduation. Among the others, 31 per cent reached their present rank 20 to 30 years after graduating from college, and 18 per cent waited longer than 30 years for top posts. Only 8 per cent of the executives rose to high positions in less than 10 years.

Manhattan Island's only farm covers five acres and is valued at $400,000.
